Introduction

First of all, congratulations and thank you for trying this taster version of Trainer Track Stats NH 2008/9, the leading statistical analysis of racehorse trainer patterns. Over the past five seasons, the trainers in this guide have all earned their place by consistently leading their horses into the winners' enclosure. But the key to this guide is that most of the trainers have a record that is negative overall. That is, if you'd simply bet all of their horses at the track, you'd have made a loss.

However, by carefully selecting specific types of race in which the trainer excels, Trainer Track Stats NH 2008/9 (TTS) provides a unique insight that is not available anywhere else. This further breakdown pinpoints with absolute precision the trainer specialities that you need to focus on.

By only betting horses at 14/1 or shorter, TTS followers do miss the occasional big priced winner.

But when putting this guide together, I decided that consistency of winners and shorter losing streaks is the route forward, and that's been borne out for our followers over the years.

Note that this is the 'taster' version of TTS, containing just one trainer at each track. You can download the full version from 29th August at www.TrainerTrackStats.com

Below, you'll find a short section on how to use TTS, which I hope is very straightforward. If you have any questions or comments on anything you see or read here, do please contact me at enquiries@trainertrackstats.com

Congratulations again on your purchase, and good luck!

User's Guide

In putting this guide together, I have tried to make things as easy as possible. However, there are one or two terms which newcomers to jump racing may not understand, and so here is a glossary of terms and their meanings.

Term	Meaning
All	All runners for this trainer at this track
Chase	The larger of the obstacles in NH racing, usually for more mature horses.
Flat	A beginner race for NH horses, involving racing without obstacles.
Hcap/hcp/handicap	A Handicap is a race where horses carry weight according to their ability, such that each has a theoretically equal chance of winning.
Hurdles/hdls	Hurdles are the smaller of the two types of obstacles which NH racing features.
Non-chase	All races (i.e. flat and hurdles) except for chase races
Non-flat	All races (i.e. chases and hurdles) except for flat races
Non-hurdles	All races (i.e. flat and chase) except for hurdle races
Yo	'Year old', e.g. 3-7yo refers to horses aged between 3 and 7

To find the TTS horses, simply check your newspaper daily for the relevant trainers and race types and, if there's a qualifier at 14/1 or shorter, it's a bet! It's as easy as that. But remember, we only bet between September and April, which we consider the real National Hunt season.

A word on ★'s

★'s are awarded to any trainer who has achieved one or more of the following over the last five years, with horses sent off at 14/1 or shorter, September to April:

- 15 or more winners at the track
- Strike Rate of 35% or more
- A profit of 25 units or more to a 1 unit stake
- A profit of 1.25 units per runner to a 1 unit stake

The more ★s, the higher the confidence factor associated with that trainer / track combination.

Aintree

Commentary

Aintree is known predominantly for the most famous race of them all, the Grand National. Although that race is a real stamina test, the track itself is quite fair, and suits horses with a balance of stamina and speed.

Ascot

Commentary

Ascot is most famous for its Royal Meeting on the flat but holds a whole host of top quality jumps meetings throughout the NH season. A stiff, galloping course, undulating in nature with sweeping, easy bends and a stiff uphill finish makes Ascot a true test of stamina. The fences are quite demanding and only good jumpers need apply.

Bangor

Commentary

A compact, almost round track, Bangor suits compact, speedy front runners. With only one trainer making our list this year it's up to Venetia Williams to fly the flag for TTS. She doesn't manage any TTS stars but should provide us with some decent winners this NH season and has a near 1 in 3 strike rate.

Cheltenham

Commentary

The jewel in the jumping game's crown, Cheltenham is a spectacular track in every way. It is wholly appropriate that its natural amphitheatre provides the stage on which to play out the pinnacle of the National Hunt season, the Cheltenham Festival. Only the best trainers in the land can consistently emerge in front here, and so it's no surprise that two of the pre-eminent trainers in the game are nominated.

Hi Matt,

Got the three yesterday and included them in a £3 yankee with Bold choice to finish the day with a £1,660 profit. I must admit I missed the other qualifier and I seem to be having trouble spotting them on the flat.

I'm not complaining mind I think that's about the third time I've made over £800 profit by multiple betting, the last time was back in March and a £5 each way double on Motorway and Ballydub resulted in over £900.

Regards,

Chris

Chepstow

Commentary

Perceived to be one of the toughest, most stamina-sapping tracks in Britain, the home straight at Chepstow can seem like a very long journey for horses turning in with the lead when the rains have come. But, in fact, when the weather is more clement, Chepstow suits front runners.

Doncaster

Commentary

Doncaster is a stiff test for jumpers, and a track that attracts a lot of classy horses, especially for the 'Great Yorkshire Chase'. The track was recently closed for a refurbishment which may have affected the statistics and would explain why only one trainer makes our list. Having said that, Philip Hobbs enjoys a, very decent, 50% strike rate from all of his runners.

Dear Matt,

I am myself a statistic fan. In my professional career I worked as a managing director in the airline/travel industry now living in retirement in Thailand.

In my professional life I have developed a lot of statistics and those who can value them and benefit a lot from them.

I developed further already about 15 years ago when PC's entered into daily life race information sheets on my own with trainer/jockey/owners percentages, time form and RPR ratings, SP fcst (according RP) and SP course development, rates run sofar in relation to age and winning ratio.

I am studying your statistics very careful and they are by far the best I have ever seen,

Horst

Exeter

Commentary

Exeter racetrack is situated on Haldon Hill and is, unsurprisingly, undulating in its conformation. Also not a surprise is that the West Country big guns do well here. However, many of their horses are overbet and, as such, we look elsewhere for our sustenance.

Hi Matt,

Mike here. I would like to just let you know that I literally do think you are a genius at horse racing when you put your mind to it!!!

That is no exaggeration....you really do continue to surprise me when you pull long shot selections out of no where!!! I was on Sandwith yesterday at 20-1....probably much higher on Betfair.....but even though I only had 5 each way on it, it still more than covered the costs of my bigger bets throughout the day that I was very unlucky with!! Also paid for my night out....ahem :)

The more I read your material the more I enjoy horse racing.

Mike

Fakenham

Commentary

Fakenham made its appearance in the TTS for the first time last season with a solitary trainer and it's the same story this year with just Jonjo O'Neill making the list. He has an excellent strike rate but his horses are usually well fancied and this is reflected in the low Level Stakes Profit.

Fontwell

Commentary

A real treat is in store for you the first time you visit Fontwell. It's quirky and intimate, and the figure of eight chase course really lets spectators get close to the action. It's also a great course from a betting perspective, with lots of positive trainer angles to exploit. Plenty of trainers in our list enjoy high strike rates and it has no less than three, 3 star trainers. Fontwell is one of TTS's favourite (and most profitable!) tracks.

I was introduced to your blog a couple of months ago and I'm amazed at the quality of information you provide. You're a Legend!

You've predicted the The Grand National Winner (which I backed) and I've been religiously backing all TTS and TFS selections with great success.

I'm also glad to see that you do not rip people off and in this industry that's a big bonus for us mere punters.

Please continue the good work.

Hereford

Commentary

A right-handed track, galloping in nature and with a circumference of a mile and a half. The circuit is almost square, making for some pretty sharp bends, particularly on the home turn. With this in mind it can pay to follow nippy front runners with the ability to quicken, as they are often able to slip the field.

Wow, Matt, first day yesterday and as you, caught 2 out of 4 wins and a total of 140 euros wagering, turned into 253 euros.

So, even you say to ignore 14/1 odds or more, I thought I'm up from yesterday, let's burn 10 euros on Always Brave (I backed it on 30). thirty!!!....no big deal....but it didn't burn, it became 300....well minus be fair tax..

Wow, wow, not bad, not but at all actually. 30? keep up the good work.

PS. it gets even better since, I, a long time bettor never won a 30 price, and I don't know NOTHING about horses, only my 8th overall bet. crazy

Hexham

Commentary

An undulating left-handed course measuring a mile and a half. There are plenty of twists and turns here so course knowledge is vital. Stamina is the key as conditions become extremely testing in wet weather. The fences are fairly easy but there is a stiff climb to the finish which is on a separate chute. A very difficult track to win at and the warning bells were sounding in last year's course summary. So it's no surprise that we only have one trainer to follow this year but with 3 stars Lucinda Russell has shown she knows what it takes to bring a horse here and win.

I got the free copy of Matt's jumps book when you posted a message about it last month and it's worth its weight in gold. This week between the two (flat and NH) he's had winners at 10/1 TWICE, 8/1 TWICE, 7/1 and 9/2 from a handful of bets. I got higher odds than these every time on Betfair.

Kelso

Commentary

An extremely sharp left handed national hunt course that is only a mile in circumference on the hurdles track and a mile and a quarter over fences. The fences are easy but there is a stiff uphill finish. Nippy front runners are often suited. Mudlarks tend to do well here as the ground has a tendency to become very testing due to the clay surface.

I used Matts TTS system all of this past season and have made a little nest egg from it.

I've slowly built my stakes up over the course of the season and am now staking £50 a point.

That might seem like small fry stakes but to me its meant a huge difference.

I bought his TFS book the day it went on sale because I didn't want to miss a single bet.

Matt's books are the only betting things I spend my money on these days and I'd pay double the price that he charges.

Plumpton is a very sharp left handed circuit of a mile and a furlong, which is undulating with an uphill finish. The fences can be tricky and the ground can become very testing as the track lies on a clay surface. Gary Moore used to be the king of Plumpton but doesn't even make our list this time.

That was an excellent day - pity the other 20/1 (SP) winner didn't qualify :)

Sandown

Commentary

A right-handed oval track of a mile and five furlongs in circumference, Sandown also has an uphill finish of about three and a half furlongs, which sees many a front runner get passed late in the day. On the chase track there are three fences close together at the end of the back straight that are known as the 'Railway fences', and these are a stern test for the uninitiated.

I was very happy with the 12/1 and 7/4 I took on the two winners that did qualify :-)

TFS would definitely be up there with the best of them. I think Matt has done some sterling work here, and the profits are certainly backing that up!

We made nearly £60 today, and if you'd taken the earlier prices you'd have made considerably more!

Sedgefield

Commentary

Tony Blair's former constituency of Sedgefield boasts an oval, undulating track of about a mile and a quarter in extent, with a run-in of 200 yards from the last obstacle. The tight turns, coupled with the many undulations, mean that it is a venue that is most suited to sharp-actioned handy types

“You have never heard me speak so highly about anyone or any other betting product before and that’s because Matt’s got a proven track record for producing the goods that’s second to none. £12K at Cheltenham says it all.”

Southwell

Commentary

Southwell is an oval course where there is a run-in from the last obstacle of 220 yards. It is noted as a venue where front-runners can take a fair bit of pegging back. There aren't too many meetings here anymore, as the all-weather track seems to be the main focus of attention.

He didn't just tell everyone he made £12K at Cheltenham - he posted all of his bets on his public blog, most of them weeks in advance, and I told everyone on here to subscribe to his blog weeks before he did it. So, yes, it's still recommended :-)

Stratford

Commentary

A favourite course of mine, Stratford is a left-handed oval track of about a mile and a quarter that has sharp bends and a short home straight. It therefore favours handy, well-balanced horses. There is a run-in of 200 yards from the final obstacle to the finish. As the track stands on a clay surface it does not drain especially quickly, so the ground can become heavy during wet spells. Unfortunately for TTS followers, most of Stratford's fixtures occur in the Summer, and are therefore excluded from the stats found here. However, there are still a few runners each season to merit our attention.

Taunton

Commentary

Another Southwestern track, Taunton is an oval of approximately a mile and a quarter, with sharp bends and a run-in of 150 yards (chases) and 200 yards (hurdles) from the final obstacle. There is a steady climb from the final turn up the home straight. The fences are generally regarded as being a little tricky, and it's a venue that often favours the handy, sharp-actioned animal.

I took the plunge and invested some of my Four The Win earnings on this yesterday. My very first day and I had two winners at 7/1 and 10/1. I got home from a late shift and I'm £200 in front from this and another £100 from Four The Win. What a feeling that was!

Towcester

Commentary

Towcester (pronounced, 'Toaster'!) is a right-handed, rectangular track of approximately one and three-quarter miles in circumference, with a run-in from the last obstacle of 200 yards. The final six furlongs are steeply uphill, so it is regarded as one of the stiffest courses in the country where stamina is at a premium, especially as the ground can get very testing in wet weather

Uttoxeter

Commentary

A left-handed, gently undulating, 10 furlongs oval with a run-in of 170 yards from the final obstacle. A track that is thought to favour front-runners, with easy bends. The fences here are not regarded as particularly severe.

I just backed a 33/1 winner!

I know it was above Matt's 14/1 range but I couldn't help myself.

I don't think I've ever had a 33/1 winner before!!!

Wetherby

Commentary

Wetherby is an oval, left-handed, level track of approximately a mile and a half around. It is noted as a good galloping course with a run-in of 200 yards. The fences are generally considered to be quite stiff. It's usually a good TTS course, with lots of runners and lots of winners so here's hoping for more of the same.

Matt,

Thank you so much Matt for providing a free copy of your new TrainerSandStats 2008. It is much appreciated and also gives me the opportunity to say how pleased I am with the results I'm currently getting with TFS.

I'm really enjoying my betting pursuits these days!

Cheers and thanks again,

Wincanton

Commentary

A frequent winner of the coveted 'Best Small Racecourse' award, Wincanton is an oval, left-handed, level track of approximately a mile and a half round. It is known as a good galloping course with a run-in of 200 yards. The fences are normally considered to be quite stiff, and many a good horse has been tested around here.

20/1 earlier in the week and another 20/1 today (I didn't get the earlier prices). I only do these to half stakes but I've made a small fortune this week with these!

Matt is simply amazing!

Worcester

Commentary

Worcester is a left handed track of a mile and five furlongs which is roughly oval in shape. A galloping track with long straights and easy turns it has a run-in of approximately one furlong. This is a good course to introduce novice chasers as the fences are fairly easy and a lot of trainers bring their future stars here. In wet weather the ground can become very heavy and places a strong emphasis on stamina. Phillip Hobbs is our only trainer to follow at Worcester this year and while he enjoys a very high strike rate his horses are usually well fancied resulting in a low level stakes profit.

Brilliant, simply brilliant. How often can anyone say they back a 33/1 winner? Not often.

Appendix: 'The Director's Cut'

In the full guide, there is a complete list of all trainers whose records were good enough to be considered for entry into the TrainerTrackStats manual. That many of them didn't make it to the final version is not to say that they are not worthy of note, but rather that we wanted to ensure that there were not more than around four TTS qualifiers per day (on average).

The End.
